TRASH COLLECTION SUSPENDED TODAY

INDIANAPOLIS – The Indianapolis Department of Public Works (DPW) has suspended solid waste services for today, Tuesday, February 1, due to the inclement weather.

This includes residential trash (hand collection, automated collection, and containerized collection from condominiums), heavy trash, and curbside recycling. Weather permitting, all services will resume tomorrow, Wednesday, February 2, and will run one day behind for the rest of the week.

Please be aware that when service does resume, there may be streets with limited service due to the icy conditions. A trash truck does not have the maneuverability of a car or pickup, and some roads may not be passable for us. The City will make every effort to service every street as soon as a truck can safely navigate it.

For more information, please contact the Mayor's Action Center at (317) 327-4622 (MAC).
